

This wind-loaded slope was triggered Sunday morning (12/16) by a snowmobiler. The debris was hard slabs of wind-drifted snow. The avalanche broke on a layer of small sized facets that formed during the frigid, clear weather 10 days ago. No one was caught. Photo: GNFAC

Advisory Region Northern Madison

Avalanche Details: Snowmobiler triggered wind slab on Buck Ridge

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Wed Dec 19, 2018GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Fri Dec 21,

2018

Northern Madison, 2018-12-16