

From obs: "Photo of an avalanche observed yesterday (2/21) on the SW face of Sawtooth Mountain at about 10,600'. Looks to be a few days old, but hard to tell since all skier traffic from the weekend has been erased with Tuesday's wind/precip. If you look closely, you can see the crown extends across the entire face." Photo: A. Joy

Advisory Region
Cooke City
Longitude
-109.90W

Latitude

45.14N

Avalanche Details: Natural Avalanche N. of Cooke City

Forecast link: [GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Fri Feb 23, 2024
Cooke City, 2024-02-22](#)