

This avalanche was triggered from where the photograph was taken (~100ft away). It broke 12-14 inches deep. Snow was falling so quickly yesterday that the new snow could not support itself and would easily fracture despite having a very low density. Photo: B. Zavora

Advisory Region Cooke City Longitude -110.00W Latitude 45.03N

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Sat Apr 7, 2012 Cooke City, 2012-04-07